

YOUR FIRST CRUISE STARTS HERE.

Not sure where you want to go, or what kind of cruise would suit you? That's where a CLIA Cruise Specialist can help. They'll get to know your interests, budget and travel style, then help you explore destinations, ships and itineraries that feel right for you.

Find a cruise that fits

Perhaps you're drawn to the variety of an ocean cruise, the destination-focused pace of a river cruise, the adventure of an expedition or the personalised touches of luxury cruising. You don't need to know the difference before you start planning. Your CLIA Cruise Specialist can talk you through the options, explain what's included and help you find your fit.

What to expect on your first cruise

On embarkation day, you'll check in, pass through security and board the ship. Once onboard, find your cabin, explore the ship and follow the crew's instructions for the required safety drill.

Your daily program will show you what's happening, from dining and entertainment to activities and port visits. Fill your days with experiences or take things at your own pace. Before you sail, your CLIA Cruise Specialist can explain what to expect so you feel ready from day one.

Plan ahead, leave room to explore

Popular restaurants and shore excursions can fill up, so it pays to book your must-do experiences early. Your CLIA Cruise Specialist can help you decide what to reserve, coordinate flights and accommodation, and leave space for the moments you discover along the way.
